In America, fays the elegant editor of the W thole Mateum, the conductor of a paper is viewed as a mere fabaltern in fa-ctery; and with great juffice, for he is ge-mentally an illustrate, mercenary, hind, saper is viewed as a more shoultern in igtery; and with great juffice, for he is getery; and with great great great great goodaling, ignature, and claims and receives diffinguished confideration.
For hi, as he ever ongst to be, a man of letters, and a gentleman. In France, the coff is great great great in the state of great in the universities, and emilient authors fuperintend the prefix, and in England and frepositive and great great invariably employed for this arduous and responsible talk. In thort, an editor atorad is a qualified perion, selected from the kiterary choir, and respected as a liberoad is a qualified perion, felected from the kiterary choir, and respected as a libeat study length of the configuration. An editor lere, with the exception of a few, whost atlents we ever have acknowledged, and always delight to honour, is an aniand, who would be much more advantageously employed as a laxenger, a tinker or a nightenna, than in filling four solio pages, with the spoils of his awkward the first or the lame effusions of his rickety brain.

Many of our American papers are not evaluable after being blackened and dea migaturali, that is niting tout rotto pages, with the fpoils of his rickety brain, or the lame eflutions of his rickety brain.

Many of our American papers are not fee valuable after being blackened and defled by flupid printers and editors, as when immediately from the paper mill.
Our dometic gazettes, when deflitute of news, are not like European journals, replete with entertainment and found inliraction. They are generally deflitute of wit and originality. Indeed, a groß and flovenly fyltem of plagiardin prevails throughout. One wittel deitor copies the nonfenfe of his ample brother; and falle grammar, trivial remark, unimportant news, wire drawn poetry, and drowfy efflays, pals from hand to hand, and dulnefienjoys a kind of newfpaper immortality.
There are fone erfpectable exceptions, but the majority of American newfpapers fuldy deferve the feverity of fir. Fenno's reproof. He has deferibed a large clais with truth, accuracy and acument. From a most painful experience of four years, the witter of this arctice can abundantly tellify to the plagiarisms, mawkishness, drearness, and groß folly of many of those weekly things, which profefs to convey novelty and amultement to the gaping reader. The fact is, there are three or four papers published, upon which all the refl live. The great body corporate of our heavy newspapers is as miliagen and undifferning, as the monther of the Roman poet, heavy news ing, as the monther of the Roman

" Cul luman ademptum."

The Farmer's Weekly Museum, printed at Walpole, Connecticut, contains the shawe judicious and correct articles—in doing justice to the differenment and (as we have often done before) acknowledging that the Editor of that paper is only the titled execution as the morper like the state of the contains the state of the contains the state of the contains the adoing justice to the literament and (as we have often done before) acknowledging that the Editor of that paper is only the third exception to the mongrel species of editors which he describes, in all the New England lates, we have to lament that from a certain period, his paper departed two lowly from the gentlemanly character which it had deservedly sustained throughout the United States—We have regretted to see that paper profitured to the unworthy purposes of perversion and misrepresentation—We have lamented to see that talents which that paper displayed—the genius which presided, and the talle that governed its varied and elegant literary effusions, suddenly debased and preverted from its natural consequence and dignity—and we expessed, while we repined at the anticipation, that the time most come when the slow and slient but progressive operation of public fentiment would excite an emotion of regret in the bosom of the Editor, and that he would have to vent his anguish at a slidppointment, which is only the necessary refute of his departure from the losty and independent character of the man of genius and literature—We are not therefore sure the literature and enveighing against the ignorance of his unequal rival—he must take to himself a share of the editum which falls upon our public literature—for he pessed to the sum of the distribution of the sum of the ponents quasincations to make nimicit re-fpected and his country honored; but he has unfortunately abufed them—and the Fennos and Russels, the Browns and Snowdens, farefroe stupid to be sufceptible of his just maledictions.

I am very certain that thefe last ten days, the privateers out of France, have captured ten millions of dollars, bona fide American property, bound to different ports in Europe."

The Fanny, Braine, arrived in the Clyde from New-York, brings American papers to the 10th December. The Fanny had a remarkable fine paling; the made land in 18, and Greenock in 26 days. Congress met at Philadelphia on the 3d of December. We understand that the prevalence of party spirit in America has given such alarm to that country, that governor Wentworth has received applications from no fewer than 200 samilies, for leave to remove their capital and indulty into the British settlement of Nowa Scatia; which permission he readily granted, as they are men likely to become most uteful subjects of his majeliy.
